ABSTRACT OF THE INVENTION

Systems and methods that utilize a data structure that includes text segments separated by field separators and that include one or more meta tags are provided. Meta tags may be used to expand the text segments according to predefined rules. The rules may include creating hyperlinks, formatting text, performing a search of a database or other operations. The disclosed data structure optimizes the limited storage capacity of product tags.

292773_1.DOC